³ The data in Tables 3A, 4A and 5A all come from the IMPLAN® model for Sausalito set for 2010.

⁴ The multipliers are split into four groups on pages 16 and 17 of the main report, but in Tables 3A, 4A and 5A, consider them as the following: Direct = 1.00, Sausalito = Total Effect = Direct + Indirect + Induced. If an accounting firm has $1 million more of demand, then Sausalito will have indirect and induced effects of approximately $500,000 of business revenue on other industries than accounting firms.

⁶ The multipliers are split into four groups on pages 16 and 17 of the main report, but in Tables 3A, 4A and 5A, consider them as the following: Sausalito = Total Effect = Direct + Indirect + Induced. If an accounting firm has $1 million more of demand, then Sausalito will generate approximately $30,000 of additional tax revenue in various forms for Sausalito's city government.
